OBITUARY

MARSHALL: Mrs. Martha Jane Marshall, an old resident of Brampton, widow of the late Robert Marshall, died on Saturday (October 20th) in her 67th year. Mrs. Marshall was born in Toronto Tp., and was a daughter of the late Thos. Copeland. She lived for some years on her husband's farm at Victoria, Centre Road. Over thirty years ago she came to Brampton. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Chafor, and three sons, Bert, with whom she made her home, and Robert, of Brampton, and William, of St. Catharines.

Brampton Lady Has Century Old Bottle.

Mrs. John Marshall, of Brampton, is the proud possesser of a bottle to hold baking soda. That would not seem anything to be proud about, but this bottle is different. It is known as "Father Matthew" and is a piece of yellow pottery, beautifully glazed with a dark brown, and representing a jolly old Englishman.

It was purchased by Mrs. Marshall's grandmother, Mrs. John Kirkwood, at the time of her marriage to Mr. Kirkwood, son of one of the first settlers in north Caledon just 100 years ago. Later it came into the hands of Mrs. Marshall and there it remains.

Mrs. Kirkwood's scones were among the pioneer confections of her district, and the recipe is used by her granddaughter today with soda still taken from "Father Matthew".

The recipe for the scones is as follows: Three cups of flour sifted twice with two teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one half teaspoon baking soda, one quarter teaspoon salt, all measurements level. Rub in until like fine sand, three tablespoons of lard or butter. Wet into soft

BRAVE BRAMPTON BOY WHO RESCUED A CHUM

A very good surprise and an unlooked for recognition was received by Donald Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.T. Marshall, of this town, on Friday last, when he received word that he had been awarded the medal of the Humane Society medal they were still the life of Lavelle Puckering from drowning last summer.

While bathing in the Etobicoke river in the month of July, Donald Marshall noticed that his chum, Lavelle Puckering, had fallen into the water from the slippery bank. Young Puckering could not swim a stroke and he was in eminent danger of drowning, when Marshall, with great effort, was able to bring him to the shore again, where he applied first aid methods with success.

D. H. MARSHALL

While on a visit to his son, Allan Marshall, Hamilton, David H. Marshall, a native of Snelgrove, and son of one of the pioneers of that district, passed away after a brief illness from flu and pneumonia. Mr. Marshall, who was the son of the late William Marshall, was born near Snelgrove 81 years ago. He and his five brothers assisted their father in clearing the farm which became the family homestead, and on which he spent his entire life. He was well-known throughout the county and surrounding district as a successful farmer. He also took a deep interest in municipal affairs, and was warmly attached to the Liberal party. In the earlier days of the district in which he lived, he acted as Justice of the Peace, and was at one time president of the Peel Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company. He was a member of the Methodist church, and was connected with Campbell's Cross Methodist church in the days of its greatest activity. One brother of Mr. Marshall's family survives, William of St. Catharines. His wife died some 20 years ago, and he leaves four sons, Dr. William, Flint, Mich., Rev. D. H., Chatham, Allan, Hamilton, and Howard on the homestead, also one daughter, Mrs. T. J. Willard, Taber, Alta. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to Dixon's Cemetery.

STEVEN B. MARSHALL

In the passing of Steven Batho Marshall, memories of older residents of the town were stirred as they recalled other members of what was at one time one of the leading families in the town of Brampton. His father, the late William Marshall, settled on what is now the farm occupied by L.J.C. Bull, then on the extreme outskirts of the town, and there deceased was born 70 years ago. He lived all his live in Brampton, being connected for many years with the late Josiah Mason as a builder, and being known in almost every section of the county. During more recent years, he was connected with W. B. McCulloch, also a builder. He was a lifelong member of St. Paul's Church, and was a Liberal in politics. His widow, formerly Mary Banks, also one of the early residents of Chinguacousy, survives, as well as two sons, Ernest, of Kamsack, Sask., and William, of Gleichen, Alta., and one daughter, Mrs. Neil McKinnon, Brampton.

Dr. Marshall is a son of the late David Marshall, a well known pioneer farmer of Chinguacousy. He was a brilliant student at Brampton High School, graduating in 1895 and attending University of Toronto, where he was one of the outstanding students in medicine and before graduating was a gold medalist. Dr. Marshall went to Michigan and began to practise at Boyne City. Later he went to Flint, Mich., about twenty-five years ago, and he has established one of the largest medical practices in that city. Dr. Marshall served overseas with the A. E. F. in his profession.

Dr. Marshall has a brother, Mr. Howard Marshall, living on the Chinguacousy homestead. Another brother, Rev. David Marshall, is a pastor of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Guelph, Mrs. John Willard, of Vulcan, Alta., is a sister.

Years ago another Peel old boy was a prominent physician in Flint when it was a small town. He was Dr. James Buckham, whose wife was a Miss Snell, a sister of the late Mrs. Vodden, of Brampton.

PEEL OLD BOY HONORED

Dr. W. H. Marshall, of Flint, Tendered a Birthday Party

7 Ap. 1932

The following appeared in the Flint, (Mich) Daily Journal of Thursdap, March 31st:

Members of the Flint and Genesee County Medical society as well as friends and colleagues from Michigan and Ontario last night paid high tribute to Dr. W. H. Marshall, dean of medical teachers in this vicinity, who is given the credit for "bringing Hurley hospital from a third-rate country hospital to one of the outstanding institutions in the country." The occasion was Dr. Marshall's birthday.

"A teacher's great works are not in his words but in his pupils," said Dr. J. B. Elliott, professor of clinical medicine and medical history at the University of Toronto, chief speaker at the dinner. Dr. Elliott, who was a classmate of Dr. Marshall's at the Canadian university, traced the history of great medical teachers from Hippocrates, founder of medicine, to the present day. Others who spoke in appreciation of Dr. Marshall's outstanding work in founding the Hurley hospital clinics and teaching services for internes and junior staff members, included Dr. Carl F. Moll, president of the Michigan Medical society; Dr. Leon M. Bogart, of Flint; Dr. James Davis, professor of pathology at the Detroit College of Medicine; Dr. A. C. MacKinnon, of Atlanta, Mich., in whose army medical unit Dr. Marshall served during the World war, and W. B. Smith, honorary member of the Genesee-co Medical society.

Letters and telegrams were read from Dr. Carl V. Weller, professor of pathology of the University of Michigan medical school; Dr. James D. Bruce, also of the University of Michigan; and Dr. F. C. Warnshuis, secretary of the state medical society.

"There is no satisfaction greater or more enduring than the respect of one's associates," said Dr. Marshall in reply to the many tributes paid him. "You have been more than generous to me. What success I have had has been possible only because of your splendid co-operation. I have profited as much as you by my peaceful activities at the hospital.

"There are only two classes of doctors: those who are learning and those who are forgetting. We need clinics, discussions, books and magazines, and one of the chief functions of a hospital is education. Every hospital worth while is a teaching hospital. It makes for better and keener work.

"At Hurley hospital we have a splendid laboratory and many opportunities for study of all diseases. Some of the best clinics in the world, I believe, are exemplified there."

At the close of the meeting, Dr. Marshall presented Dr. Elliott with a set of the "Medical History of Michigan," in the editing and writing of which W. V. Smith and the late Dr. C. B. Burr played a large part. The volumes will be added to the medical library at the University of Toronto.

More than 100 friends, including members of the board of Hurley hospital managers as well as staff physicians, attended the dinner at the Hotel Durant. An overflow crowd was served downstairs, and later the guests moved into the ballroom for Dr. Elliott's illustrated lecture on the great teachers of medicine.

Dr. Marshall is a son of the late David Marshall, a well known pioneer farmer of Chinguacousy. He was a brilliant student at Brampton High School, graduating in 1895 and attending University of Toronto, where he was one of the outstanding students in medicine and before graduating was a gold medalist. Dr. Marshall went to Michigan and began to practise at Boyne City. Later he went to Flint, Mich., about twenty-five years ago, and he has established one of the largest medical practices in that city. Dr. Marshall served overseas with the A. E. F. in his profession.

Dr. Marshall has a brother, Mr. Howard Marshall, living on the Chinguacousy homestead. Another brother, Rev. David Marshall, is pastor of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Guelph. Mrs. John Willard, of Vulcan, Alta., is a sister.

Years ago another Peel old boy was a prominent physician in Flint when it was a small town. He was Dr. James Buckham, whose wife was a Miss Snell, a sister of the late Mrs. Vodden, of Brampton.

MARSHALL–ORR REUNION

Forty guests were present at a very pleasant reunion of the descendants of James Marshall and Isabel Noble on Monday, August 5th, on the lovely lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall, Camilla. The gathering was held in honour of Miss Lucy Orr, of Winnipeg, who is visiting at the present time with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marshall, Orangeville, and other relatives. A short programme of sports was indulged in, after which all sat down to a very enjoyable supper. Short speeches were made by several members. Those present at the happy gathering were:—

Miss Lucy Orr, Winnipeg; Mr. Jas. Orr and son, Albert, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Orr, Creemore; Mrs. Goetchius and daughter, Mrs. Keller, of Warren, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Curry and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Trimble and Mrs. W. H. Trimble, of Laurel; Mrs. J. Leighton, Toronto; Mr. Lewis Marshall, Miss Myrtle Marshall, Mrs. Robt. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Island, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Marshall and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Marshall and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Marshall and son.
